McGOVERN'S TWO MATCHES.

One is With Oscar Gardner and the Other With Bernstein.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.-For defeating Dixon Terry McGovern yesterday received $9,416. The boys sparred for 50 per cent of the gate receipts, of which the winner received 35 per cent and the loser 15 per cent. The total amount of oney taken in at the gate was $25,010. Dixon's share, therefore, was $3,129. It was generally supposed that the boys fought for a purse of $10,000, and the anouncement that they had battled under a percentage basis came in the nature of a surprise.

McGovern celebrated his victory quietly at his home in Brooklyn. McGovern had been in a battle. When asked about his plans for the future he said he was prepared to fight man in the "I have already arranged two matches," said McGovern, "one with Oscar Gardner, to take place on March 9, and the other with Joe Bernstein, on Both contests will take March 24. place at the Boardway Athletic Club. After these fights have been decided I may take a trip to England and fight Palmer again, and if I beat him I will take on Jordan or Curley.' Dixon spent the greater part of the day at the house of a friend. The defeated champion looked very much the worse for wear. He showed many marks of the effect of McGovern's blows. His nose was badly puffed and there were two big swellings under his left eye and one under his right eye. He said that he would never fight again. He said that he had never met a man who could hit as hard as Mc-

Dixon is to have a big benefit in this city, and McGovern has volunteered his services for the occasion. Two thousand five hundred dollars has already been subscribed by the local sporting men for the benefit. Benefits will also be given the colored boy in Chicago, San Francisco and other large cities.

The repeal of the Horton law will be accomplished at once, if the order of Chairman B. B. Odell, jr., of the Republican state committee, goes with the legislature, Mr. Odell, with a number of leading Republicans, saw the Mc Govern-Dixon fight at the Boardway Athletic Club. It was a visit from an official as well as a sporting standpoint, for the message of Governor Roosevel has brought the prize-fighting question immediately before the party. The decision of the state chairman, therefore, is a political move.

AMUSEMENTS.

Much interest is attached to the forthcoming engagement of that ac-complished actor, Mr. William Morris, at the Opera House, Saturday, matines and night, January 13, when he will produce, for the first time here, a new play by Anthony Hope. The new work which, by the way, is the first original play this talented writer has given, is entitled "The Adventure of Lady Ursu la." which is unquestionably Mr. Hope's most noted work, and is said to not only offer splendid opportunities for Mr. Morris and company, but it is also rich in chances for effective scenniso rich in chances for effective scen-ery and picturesque costuming. Its scenes are located in London in the early part of the last century. The plot centers about Sir George Sylvester, who has killed his best friend in a duel over a woman, and vows he will never fight another duel or look on the face of one of the sex again. He lives the life of a hermet in his home. The neigh-borhood is curious to know why he has shut himself up, and Lady Ursula, a spirited young woman, determines to fathorn the mystery. Through these efforts a number of amusing complica-tions occur that are disentangled in a efforts a number of amusing complica-tions occur that are disentangled in a very satisfactory and artistic way. Mr. Morris, who starred in "Under the Red Robe" and "The Lost Paradise." as-sumes the role of Sir George. The part of Lady Ursula will be played by Miss Frances Drake, who will appear as a boy in two scenes of the play.

"Rip Van Winkle."

The dramatized version of Washington Irving's immortal story of "Rip Van Winkle" was presented in excellent style to a large and well pleaded audience at the Grand Opera House last night by the Van Dyke and Eaton Dramatic Company. There was an abundance of appropriate scenic effects and the production was first class in every respect, each member of the cast doing very capable work. "Rip Van will be repeated as to-day's matinee bill, and to-night the company will present for the first time in this city, the sterling military drama, "Child of the Regiment," with new and pleasing specialties between acts.

"The Royal Box."

Charles Coghlan's successful play "The Royal Box," will be given at the Opera House for two nights and one matinec, commencing Wednesday evening, January 17. The principal part is that of Clarence, the actor, the leading artist of England in the year 1810. The fourth act of the piece is divided into two scenes. The first pictures the dressing room of the actor, and the second the stage of the Drury Lane theatre, in London, with a drama in progress. In the stage scene the actor is presented playing Romeo in the balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet." Wrought up to a state of mental hys teria through jealousy of the woman he loves, who sits in the royal box with the Prince of Wales, afterwards George IV, he publicly denounces the first gentleman in Europe from the stage of his profligacy. The transition from lovelorn Romeo to the madly infuriated actor, denouncing royalty, is instantaneous. The scene is one of remarkable power. The incident is a very delicate one, and the slightest divergence from the careful and discriminating lines on which Mr. Coghlan has laid down the business of the scene would cause it to sink from the sublimity of true art to the place of a mediocre melodramatic situation. Miss Coghlan, the talented daughter of Charles Coghlan plays the part of Celia Pryce, the leading female role, and shows she has all the talent of the family. She will be assisted by Andrew Robson, who has played Mr. Coghlan's part many times.
